ATLAS REALTY CO. TO COMPLETE OAK ST. HOUSES THIS WEEK

The two new houses built on Oak street by the Atlas Realty Co. were occupied this week by the Claude E. Beebe and the Spencer Beebe families. Both are modern five room homes, and are complete in every detail, with the exception of a few finishing touches still to be made.

BEEBE FAMILIES MOVE IN NEW ATLAS HOUSES

A five room house on Arthur street, being built by the Atlas Realty Co. of Moss Point, is nearing completion and is scheduled to be completed by the end of the week. This new home is to be occupied by the Bryan family, it was stated.

The two decided to make their fortunes in lumber and moved to Escatawpa and established a mill on a site they acquired on a deep narrow lake adjoining what was then called the "Dog River", now known as the Escatawpa. The lake is still known as Smith's Lake.

At the time, John and William were joined by a third brother, David. David, from whom most of this information was obtained, never changed his name to Smith, but kept the old family name of Hiddle.

The Scottish Hiddles originally settled in the Orkney Island in the late 16th or early 17th century. They were Hugenots who had fled from France.

At Escatawpa the brothers built a shed for the boilers and engine, a cook house, a four room house, a nine room house for slaves and various structures for chickens, hogs and other uses. The family house was built with wooden pegs, still stands today and is owned by the Hulbert family.

David Hiddle wrote this of the people who lived in this swampy environment, "One and all, they had an easy independent swagger, and a manly way of "wish you good morning". No one as a general rule paid obeisance to the man of money, or him who might hold a more comfortable position. Bill, Dick, Harry - all were alike, and this is one of the American qualities I admire. The disposition of all of the people is generous, frank and hospitable. No one will refuse the traveler a night's rest and a breakfast in the morning. Their great day of the week seems to be what should be the most hallowed of all, namely Sunday. On this day the center of activity, or interest seems to be the post office. They form a novel and picturesque group. There sits one whittling a stick, while every now and then he joins in with the conversation. Some are straddled over a sack of corn in the store. Generally storekeepers, who sell anything from a needle to an anchor, also have the post office. There again, sits one old fellow who puts old Elder, the postmaster in a sweat lest his old hickory chair goes to pieces with the sitter swinging back and forth on it. But chief of all is Mr. Elder himself, the postmaster, with his specs on his brow. He it is who is vehemently dialectical about the issues at stake - the war, the probable results, generally winding up with the assertion that "we" are bound to beat the Yankees and soon.'

The war did come and that changed everything. The north blockaded Southern ports and business fell off drastically. The 'Yankees' captured two of the brothers' fully loaded schooners. "When they went out of Dog River they were chased and captured, leaving us the losers of $20,000.'

Consequently the business was shut down and William and David moved to New Orleans to work in the foundries building cannon. John, meanwhile, became a blockade runner and was eventually captured while engaged in an elaborate scam to privateer Northern vessels and use them to attack the Pacific whaling fleet.

David soon left America and returned to Scotland to marry his childhood sweetheart and later settled permanently in Queensland,

William became a moulder of cannon during the war and was imprisioned shortly by the North but let go when they

After the war William returned to the property on Smith's Lake and became the sole title holder through an agreement, or some say disagreement, with John.

In 1868 William married Louisa Vaughan and she mothered three children: Arthur Hiddle Smith, William Hiddle Smith, Jr., and Mamie Smith. The area in which they lived was known as Ford at that time. Louisa died in 1879 when the oldest child, A.H. Smith was eleven. William later remarried to a girl from the Dodge family.

William H. Smith was a short stocky man whose fair skin, blue eyes, flowing white beard and jolly disposition gave him the nickname of Santa Claus by the local children. He was Superintendent of Sunday School and loved to sing, especially old Scottish ballads like "Annie Laurie".

The Smith house was described as being old fashioned with many lambrequins, gew gaws and had a wax flower arrangement under a glass dome on a table. They had a parrot which belonged to his second wife.

Many hours were spent looking at pictures though the "magic lantern". One such was described as that of a young man with a girl on each side with the caption that said he could be happy with either dear charmer if one dear charmer were away.

After the mill closed down, William had a general store in Escatawpa and it was a favorite place for the kids to get candy and gum. In later years William and his second wife moved to San Pedro and stayed with his son William, Jr., who had a successful ironworks business.

William H. Smith died in San Pedro after a lengthy illness which had left him paralyzed and invalid. He is buried there.

SOUTHERN, ALBERT AND MAYBELLE

Albert Robert Southern was born Sept. 20, 1896 at what was then known as the "Old Jackson Place", west of present day Pascagoula Beach Park. He married Maybelle Matilda Taylor on April 14, 1929. The Southerns had five children: Albert Robert, Milton William, Patricia Ann, Floy Alice, Judith Estelle.

Albert Southern continued the craft of boat building, passing what he knew to his two sons, Robert (Bob) and Milton. He also spent several years in the Coast Guard. The Southerns made a home for the family on South 22nd Street, behind the Longfellow House, which had always seemed to be closely tied to the family's history. Albert died Feb. 9, 1976.

Bob and Milton continued the boat building tradition as outside interest, while pursuing careers in other fields. Milton has been employed with the U.S. Postal Service since June of 1959 and continues to build small skiffs in his spare time.

Milton married Margaret Hamilton on July 7, 1955. Margaret's grandparents, Matti and Susanna Koskela, were both from discovered that he was still a British citizen.  $oldsymbol{\eta}$  Finland and were married in Christ Lutheran church in Pascagoula. Pascagoula.

Like his ancestors before him, Gary Southern continued the tradition of boat building. The end result was a shrimp boat, just under 60 feet in length, built of wood and without the aid of blueprints, and christened the "Southern Belle".

Gary used cypress boards for the whole boat except the keel and the deck, which was pressure-treated pine. The "Southern Belle" was christened by Pastor Leo Wehrspann of Christ Lutheran Church on Oct. 30, 1982. Margaret Southern broke the champagne bottle over the bow and the boat was launched into Bayou Heron.

Michael Southern is a graduate of the University of Southern Mississippi's regional business college. Rocky Southern was a 1986-87 senior at Live Oak Academy.

Gary married Lisa Ann Hammond of Moss Point on April 27, 1984. They have one son, Jason Garrett Southern, born April 24,

SOUTHERN, CHARLES AND LUCINDA

F492

The name Southern originated in England. When the Normans (French) invaded England, what was known as North Umberland was divided into quadrants and the people took their surnames from the area in which they lived: North, South, East, West. Charles Southern was born in New York on March 15, 1820. He came to Jackson County sometime after 1840, appearing on the 1850 census. He hired William Beebe to build a schooner, which he used to haul freight up and down the coast, also from New Orleans to the coast. Among the freight was the brick and other materials used in the construction of the Graham home, now known as the Longfellow House.

William Beebe and his wife, Sarey Anne, came to the coast from Maine, as shown on the 1830 census, and started a boat yard on the eastern bank of Bayou Casotte. The site became known as Beebe Point and is the location of the family cemetary or Bayou Casotte Cemetery. Mrs. Beebe was the only woman aboard the boat that brought them to the coast, and during the journey she gave birth to a child. She is credited with saying, ''If I can deliver my own child, I can deliver someone else's" and with that she became a midwife.

Mi raţ one fro Αfı Ca las  $\mathbf{b}$

The exact number of Beebe children is unknown, however there was at least one son. Edward Beebe served in the Civil War with the Live Oak Rifles, 3rd Regiment Infantry, Co. A., which was mustered in at Ocean Springs on Sept. 18, 1861. There were several daughters: and they married Sparnburg, Welch, and Parsley. Lucinda Belle Beebe, born April 28, 1829, married Charles Southern on Jan. 1, 1847. They had five children: Isabella, Mary Anne, Pauline, Robert, and William. Charles died March 3, 1858, twelve days before his 38th birthday, leaving Lucinda a widow with five children during the Civil War.

The Chastant family owned a beautiful summer home on the beach adjacent to the present day beach park. When the family moved to Texas to avoid the advancing Union soldiers, Lucinda and her children were allowed to take refuge in the house as caretakers.

When the Union soldiers moved into the area, the best of the large homes were used as headquarters and many others were destroyed. Lucinda begged them not to burn the Chastant home. Out of compassion for her and her children they agreed to spare the home. She and her children were taken to Dauphin Island. They were fed and treated kindly, she said. When the war was over they were returned to the mainland. Lucinda eventually married Henry Savage and gave birth to three more sons: John, Henry and Frank. Life was difficult following the war and the family was faced with many hardships, yet Lucinda's courage and strength saw her through until her death Nov. 26, 1900.

The family cemetery on Beebe Point is now maintained by Chevron. Although it has been covered as a result of dredging, it is marked by a low, two-railed, wooden fence. The sign in front of the cemetery lists the names of those buried there: William Beebe Sr. and wife, William Beebe, Jr., Charles Edward Southern, John Savage, Sr. and nonfamily members: John Island and Charles Johnson.

SOUTHERN, WILLIAM AND MARANDA

Charles and Lucinda's son, William Edward Southern, married Frazine Maranda Cronier. They had five children: Albert, Arthur, Olive, Irene and Floy. Albert married Maybelle Taylor, Arthur married Nettie Spicer, Olive "Ollie" married Henry LaForce, Irene married Edward Harper and Floy married Sam Parker.

Irene, who lives in Florida, describes life along the beach in this excerpt from a letter written several years ago:

Years after the Civil War, mama and papa lived in a cottage adjoining the "Big House" (Longfellow House) as caretakers.

Captain Buskin, a German seafaring man, was the owner for several years. One day, Mrs. Buskin was destroying a large portrait of herself with a hammer, crying and raving.

"I don't want him to look on mine face when I'm gone." He didn't, he was lost at

For a short time, a Mr. Delano, Mrs. born 1835, Eleanor Roosevelt's relative owned the Fisland, AL. place. He didn't stay very long.

Later, it was owned by a man named Arthur Thornton. He was a single man. He with his caretakers. Arthur Southern was named for him. When Arthur was a baby, his hand and said, "No matter what the future holds for him, he can always say he had a thousand dollars in his hand." Mr. Thornton was killed in an elevator accident in New Orleans.

The Pollocks, from Louisiana, acquired the place from the Thornton estate and immediately gave it an Old South aristocratic name, "Bellevue", its first title. They were kind people and provided many happy occasions for the children of our community. The one I remember was Halloween. A three year old doesn't take too well to a tall, white ghost with a lighted pumpkin on its head, especially when apples, oranges, and small cabbages come flying through the front door.

Another memorable occasion was a Christmas party at the Big House. Christmas trees were lighted with candles back then and Santa's beard caught on fire. I don't think they were as concerned about getting the fire out as they were Santa being unmasked before a roomful of wide-eyed children.

A small country church was built by my father (William Southern) and other men in the community on land and with materials furnished by the Pollocks, where all the children were christened.

Our home was just east of the Longfellow House (Pollock Estate). Ollie, Floy, and I (Irene) were born there. Arthur was born when mama and papa were caretakers for the "Big House" but I don't know where Albert was born. I remember they had a little dog who helped them catch diamondback terapins on the beach.

SPRINKLE, JOHN AND ANNA AGNES SUMRALL

John Sprinkle was born in 1787 at Frederick, MD and came to the Mississippi Territory in 1810 to the area of Pearl River, on the Gulf Coast. He enlisted in the War of 1812 and in 1813, he was in Col. Nixon's Regiment.

In 1819, in Wayne County, MS, he married Agnes Sumrall, born 1793 in South Carolina. She was the daughter of Moses Sumrall, who was a Revolutionary soldier, and Polly Parker. Anna Sumrall had been previously married to a Mr. Nicholas and had three children: Jonathan Nicholas, born 1810; Unis Nicholas, born 1812, who was married to John Rushon; Hannah Nicholas, born 1818 was the wife of Harry Waters of Horn Island, MS.

John Sprinkle and Anna had five sons: Henry, born 1823; John, born 1825; Peter, born 1827; George, born 1833; and Stencil, born 1835, all of whom lived on Dauphin

John Sprinkle was hired as Lighthouse Keeper on Round Island off the coast of Pascagoula, MS, in 1838, and served until lived in the "Big House" but took his meals \$\infty\$ 1841. The record of 1841 was the last found  ${\bf W}$  on John Sprinkle, so we believe that he died Vin Jackson County, on Horn Island or Petit Mr. Thornton put a thousand dollar bill in Bois Island. ### STEEDE, COL. ABNER CLAYTON

Abner Clayton Steede was born in 1828, and died at the age of 73 in 1901. He is buried near the site of the Old Courthouse in Americus, which was the capital of Jackson County for 40 years.

In 1852, he was married in Jackson County to Mary Ann Howell. Mary Ann was born Aug. 5, 1833 and died Oct. 4, 1902. This union produced the following ten children:

William Edward, born Oct. 29, 1853; George, born Aug. 5, 1855, died Oct. 5, 1860; Thomas Howell, born May 25, 1857; Abner Clayton, born Mar. 19, 1859, died Jan. 8, 1926; Charles Gunter, born Jan. 13, 1862; Mary Olivia, born Nov. 28, 1865; Georgia Virginia, born Oct. 5, 1867; Nannie Adams, born Aug. 20, 1870, died May 21, 1972; Cammie Balsora, born June 10, 1872, died Aug. 16, 1921; and Ellis Fairbanks, born Nov. 24, 1877, died Jan. 31, 1879. The whole family is buried at the Steede Cemetery near Americus.

Abner Clayton Steede served as Jackson County's first Chancery Clerk, Circuit Clerk and Sheriff. The actual years of his service are hard to pinpoint as the Americus Courthouse was burned by outlaws and most of the early records were destroyed.

Col. Steede was originally a schoolteacher and presumably left that occupation, or one of his early political offices to serve in the Mexican War, where he received a commission as Lieutenant. At the time of his commission, records show that he changed the spelling of his name from Steed to Steede.

In 1853, the year after he was married, he became Jackson County Clerk of Courts and held that office until 1862 when he joined the Confederate Army, where his Mexican War experience as an officer advanced him rapidly.

He was in turn Captain, Major, Lieutenant-Colonel and finally Colonel of Steede's Battallion of the 9th Mississippi. Two of his captains were Murdock McInnis and P.K. Mayers, the latter of whom was at one time editor of the Pascagoula Democrat Star. Edward David, who was the father of Hon. W.R. David, one-time President of the Jackson County Board of Supervisors and member of the Legislature from Jackson County, was one of his troopers when Steede was still a Captain.
